Dr. Gibler Thinks the Alleghany Man Has

Dr. Paul Gibier of the Pasteur Institute said closing it. The levee was composed of light sand, and it is feared that it will wash badly the first in the levees in the upper portion of the State, is twelve miles north of Lake Providence, and not far from the Pecan Grove crevasse of last year, which was one of the most destructive that occurred then.

It will flood much the banne country and cover portions of East Carroll, Madison, Tensas, and Concordia parishes, the water returning to the Mississippi by way of the Black and Red Rivers, and some valuable cotton land in the track of the water will be submerged.

Another bad effect will be the prolongation of the high water on the lower river, thereby facreasing the chance of other breaks.

The Concordia levee was an old one, but had been raised and strengthened this year.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

An Injunction Proceeding by the Apolli-naris Company Suddenly Terminated. Cologne, had been directed by the Supreme Court to take testimony on a commission there in the suit of the Apollinaria Company, Limitd. against Venable & Heyman of this city. The company secured an injunction a year and a half ago restraining the firm from using labels similar to those of the plaintiff. for the defendants was signed by Judge Beach on June 27, 1890.

There was strong opposition by the plaintiff to this sommission, but the plaintiff did not perfect an appeal from the order. The objection to the Consul was that, being an American Consul, he could examine only citizens of this country. When about to proceed Mr. Warner received letters from the plaintiff threatening to bring the matter to the attempted to act under the commission. These communications were presented to Judge Barrett by the defendant's counsel with the request that, the plaintiff be adjudged in contempt and suffer a dismissal of the complaint and dissolution of the injunction as punishment. Judge Barrett has granted the application. He says:

"The plaintiff acknowledges that after its ebjection to the United States Consul as a commissioner, had been twice overruled, the plaintiff, with extreme deliberation and persistence, prevented the execution of the commission by that official, actually threatening him in a certain sense. They had no right to obstruct the defendant in procuring testimony, and their conduct amounted to a contempt and to an obstruction of the administration of justica. This record sets forth that she was born on Nov. 8, 1875. Her parents said she was born in 1874. The Superintendent said that in order to sattle the question the society would send to Cassel, where Johanna was born, and obtain her exact age. The child was committed to the care of her parents, but not before they had given their promise that pending the investigation they would not allow Johanna, or Mabel, as she is called, at the concert hall to appear on the stage.

WHO THRASHED PROP. TARPY?

Three Men, He Says, But Oue of the Three Says He Did It Alone,

The last of the triumvirate which Peter E. Tarpy says conspired to anihilate him in the interest of Mathew P. Breen surrendered in the Morrisania court yesterday. He is Patrick J. Chambers. The other two are Patrick F. Breen and Michael B. Chambers. All three are related to Mathew P. Breen, whose rela-tions with Commissioner Louis J. Heintz have aroused Prof. Tarpy's ire. He boldly pro-claims that the beating he received in Joseph Flynn's saloon on the night of March 12 was instigated by Mathew P. Breen and carried out by Patrick Breen, assisted by the Chambers brothers. He says the assault was entirely by Patrick Breen, assisted by the Chambers brothers. He says the assault was entirely unprovoked. Michael Chambers says that he and he alone thrashed the editor, and this because of an insult flavored with profanity, for which he demanded an apology and in answer received a blow.

All the interested parties were in the Morrisania Court vesterday morning, and Justice Duffy faced the largest audience he has had since he was relegated to the annexed district. There were no developments, however, the case being adjourned until Wednesday next. This was because Tarpy's counsel, Lawyer Howe, could not attend vesterday. The prisoners were paroled by Justice Duffy in Mathew P. Breen's custody. In the last issue of his Engle, Editor Tarpy devoted upward of four columns to his foes, He calls his alleged assailants 'thuga," and asks Mathew Breen if he dare deny that he visited Fire Commissioner Purroy and offered to refuter the Tammany fold and bring Commissioner Heintz along with him. He also attacks Commissioner Senter, but says his shortcomings are mainly due to the advice and companionship of Mathew P. Breen. Tarpy was an earnest advocate of the election of Commissioner Heintz.

MATRONS FOR THE POLICE STATIONS

houses, or such of them as may be designated by the Police Commissioners, will have these Police Commissioner John B. Voorhis said yesterday that he believed Gov. Hill had exercised his best judgment in signing the measure, and now that it had become a law, all that remained for the Police Department of the city ure, and now that it had become a law, all that remained for the Police Department of the city was to carry it into effect. He was not familiar with the details of the law, but he had an idea that it made the provisions of the bill that was before the Legislature last year mandatory instead of permissive. If that was ao, it would require the appointment of matrons for a few of the station houses only. Mr. Voorhis said the Commissioners would study the provisions of the law, and carry them out promptly.

"I have been opposed to the innovation from the first," he added. "I believe the demand for police matrons is founded on sentiment merely, and comes from people who are not as well qualified to judge as the Police Commissioners and those immediately connected with the Police Department. Yet now that the law has been passed, of course all that remains to be done is to enforce it."

Inspector Byrnes said that as the executive officer of the department he had only to carry out what the Commissioners chose to order in the matter. Just what effect the new law would have upon the conduct of the Police Department it would be impossible to say until it had had a fair trial.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21.- "Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Finance; Mr. Foster, and Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, are ready to start for Washington at any moment, to have an informal talk over the question of reciprocity with Canada, with Secretary Blaine and the British Minister. It will be remembered that the Dominion Government until now has refused to enter into any informal consideration of the case, assigning as a reason that it would prejudice its case by showing its hand as to what line of action its would take when negotiations are seriously entered upon. Now it appears that Becretary Blaine has given it to be understood that he will not recommend the appointment of a Commissioner on behalf of the United Blates until proof has been furnished that the Canadian and British delegates are not going to Washington with some impracticable scheme trumped up to carry out pledges made to the electors of Oanada during the late campaign without any serious belief that negotiations will some to anything.

From what can be gathered, Secretary Blaine has intimated to Sir John Macdonald, through the liritish Minister, that he will not enter into formal conference until the Canadian representatives have informally discussed the question with him. now has refused to enter into any informal con-

ITEACA, March 21.-A difficulty has arisen nell University which is likely to cause trouble. For one week the sophomores and freshmen have been wearing mortar-board hats with a class button on top. An effort was made to induce all the classes to adopt the mortar boards, but the juniors and seniors refused Yesterday morning several sophomores went to recitation leaving their mortar boards in the hall. When they were dismissed from class A mad lot of hatless sophs walked up and down the Campus looking for the thief, but to down the Campus looking for the thief, but to no avail.

Last night they learned that a certain prominent junior helped the scheme through. Late in the evening they went to the house on Buffalo street where the junior lived and rapped. A man came to the door, and the sophs pounced upon him, blackened his eyes, broke his nose, and left him badly done up. It turned out that the wary junior had asked a senior to go to the door, and he it was who received a rounding. The senior class considers it an insult to their disnift, and the feeling between the classes is growing bitter, the mortar board being the cause of all the trouble, and may have to go.

THEY WANT TO BUY THE MOUND. A Valuable Archnological Property which is in Danger of Removal, PARKERSBURS, W. Va., March 21 .- The great monument of antiquity in the Ohio valley, at Moundaville, in Marshall county, near the Ohio River, is in imminent danger of immediate destruction, an : the West Virginia Historical and Antiquarian Society is appealing for aid to save it. The owner, a Mr. G. S. McFaddin, has given to the society an option for its pur-chase, which will expire on May 1. This mound is one of the most remarkable in this section. Ever since the coming of the white race it has been to the antiquarian, the historian, and the archmologist a great object of interest in the Ohio valley. Many learned men from beyond the seas have visite it.

The great mound is 246 feet in diameter at its base, is hemispherical in form, 79 feet high, with a plateau or flat 63 feet in diameter at its the base, is hemispherical in form, 79 feet high, with a plateau or flat 63 feet in diameter at its top. It is covered from base to anex with immense timber, some of the trees being several hundred years old. There are over 6.000,000 ouble yards of earth in the mound. This earth is of a different character from that in its immediate vicinity, and it is evident that it was carried over a quarter of a mile from a spot in the lowland. How this immense body of earth was transferred such a distance without the aid of mechanical means is a matter of conjecture, of course, but the work was doublessed one by hand.

The mound was examined several years ago, the explorers sinking a shaft from its top 79 feet down to a level with the surrounding country. As the shaft was sunk it was curbed and bricked up, more than 80,000 bricks being used in the construction of the walls. Nothing of special note was found until a very large stone was struck. When this stone was removed it was found to cover a crypt, enclosed on all sides with a stone wall built with a mechanical skill unknown to the American Indian. Within the crypt was found two skeletons, with many utensils and instruments of the chase and war. One of the skeletons was that of a man, whose height must have been ever seven feet. The other was that of a wooman. By the side of these remains were many peculiar instruments, weapons, articles of scornment, and of ordinary use. They were composed of bronze, copper in its natural state, stone, and flint.

There were many beads of bone and shells, the latter resembling those found along the seasone of the southern coasts. The skeletons was more of those found recently in Arizona, but of a race of people unknown to the lindians. The relies were similar to some of those found recently in Arizona, because the funds necessary for the purchase of the owner of the mound, and will be turned over to the Historical and Antiquarian Society of West Virginia as soon as the latter corperation raises the funds necessary for the purchase of t

ON A CHLOROFORM DRUNK. Tracing James Watt from Hotel to Hotel About Town,

James Watt, the son of a wealthy San Francisco merchant, came to this city about six months ago. He had become addicted to the habit of drinking chloroform, and his chloro-form drunks became so frequent that it was feared that he would soon kill himself. By the advice of physicians he came to New York, tered the Bunting Home for Intemperate Men at 1,175 Madison avenue. There he had behaved remarkably well, and seemed to be trying his best to overcome his habit.
On Saturday, the 14th, he dined with Mr.
Payson Merrill of 118 East Fortieth street, who is an old friend of his father. He seemed to be in good health, and was so much improved in appearance that his friends allowed him to re-turn to the Asylum alone, Last Thursday mes-sengers from the asylum came to Mr. Merrill to inquire what had become of Watt. They said he had not returned to the asylum on Sat-urday.

The police soon discovered that Watt had spent Saturday night at the Sherman House, in Forty-second street near Third avenue. He left there the next morning. The search of the hotels was continued, and on Friday his name was found on the register of a small hotel at 75 Eighth avenue, near Fourteenth street. Mr.
George Gee, the proprietor, said yesterday that Watt came to his hotel on Tuesday, and engaged a room, which he paid for until Thursday. He acted so strangely that Mr. Gee instructed the strangely that Mr. Gee instructed the strangely that Mr. Gee instructed the strangely of the Mr. Several empty bottles labelled "Poison," which had

Mr. Gee concluded that he had got for a lodger a man who was contemplating suicide, and he determined to get rid of Watt. He also discovered that Watt, by representing himself as a physician, had obtained chloroform from several drug stores in the neighborhood.

On Thursday Watt returned to the hotel. He had been indulging in his old habit, and was in a wretched condition. Mr. Gee told him that he could not stay. Watt then went away, leaving two valises, which he said he would send for.

Watt is 25 years old. 5 feet 8 inches in height, of average build, and has a black moustache

Mr. Harrison went about in an evening suit with a too light overcost, and did not realize what an imprudent thing he had done until the next day."

Breaking of the feeling of the irish people toward Mr. Parnell, he said:

"The men who are realize the bone and sinew of Ireland to-day are with us. The trouble is that the old men are against us. In Ireland people live to a great age, and the head of a house clings to his patriarchal rights most tenaciously. As these old men were bred in the hard days when there was little chance for education, they take a narrow and prejudiced view of things. As they are the householders, and therefore the voters, they wield the influence in politics, while their sons, who are more intelligent, can do nothing." Tried Suicide at Police Headquarters. Charles Williams, aged 22 years, who lives at 83 Baxter street and has no occupation, was arrested at 1 o'clock yesterday morning by In-

The doorman discovered him in time to prevent injury and took the things away from him. An ambulance was sent for and he was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital, not because of the attempted strangulation, but to be treated for a disease from which he is suffering.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was informed on Friday night that in two rooms on the third floor of the five-story double-deck tenement at 697 First avenue, occupied by two families named McKenna and McNally, a child 8 years old lay drunk on the floor, and all the members of the two families were in a like condition.

Agent King was sent at once to investigate. He took along Ward Detective McCarthy of the East Thirty-fifth street station. They found the rooms of the two families in an indescribable cendition. In one room almost bare of furniture little Mary McKenna, 8 years old, lay on the floer in a state of come, the result of drink. Near the unconscious child lay her father, half undressed and paralyzed with liquor. On another part of the floor lay liste Docharty, 22 years old, who lives at 332 East Thirty-sixth street, but who, it is said, spends almost all her time in dissipation in the Mo-Renna rooms, She, too, was drunk, but conscious. On a lounge which, with a table, a broken chair, and a cracked stove, comprised the furniture of the room, was a good-looking woman, half undressed, sleeping off the effects

In a small bedroom, lighted only by a small square window opening into the larger room, a man lay on a narrow bed. He was Arthur McNally, 40 years old. He was wasted to a skeleton and had just strength enough to turn his head as the officers entered. He had been ill of consumption for more than two years, and was apparently in a dying condition. He at-ill of consumption for more than two years, and was apparently in a dying condition. He attempted to answer the officers' questions, but could only gasp for breath. On the pillow beside his head was a shallow, leaking pan, which had evidently contained water, and a ham bone with a few shreds of meat clinging to it.

As the officers moved about, the room they stumbled over the body of McNally's wife, Ann. who lay on the floor in a drunken stupor. Behind the bed, sitting on the floor, they found little Maggie McNally, 15 years old, clothed in rass and sobbing and crying as if heartbroken.

The detective went out for help, and soon returned with three policemen. An ambulance was summoned and McNally was sent to Hellewell Heaptial. All the other inmates of the rooms were taken to the police station.

There the woman who was found on the lounge said she was Margaret Cameron, 34 years old, and the wife of John G. Cameron, a lawyer, who lives at 421 West Twenty-first street, and has an office in the Equitable building. Bhe said she had not been at home since last Saturday. On that day she went to see her sister, Mra. Tones, at 316 East Fitty-third street, and on the way back met Kate Dooharty, whom she had known for some time. Kate told her of the desperate condition of McNally, and she had gone to his rooms to see him, Arrived there she bought some whiskey for him, drank some of it herself, became intoxicated, and they seed the power of the proceeds for liquor. Capt. Fyan sent to her husband's residence to notify him of his wife's predicament, but he did not respond.

The prisoners were arrained before Justice White in the Yorkyille Police Court yesterday. A more dilapidated locking lot was hever seen in a court room. John McKenna and the three women were sent to the Island for one month each, and the two children were turned over to Agent King. Mrs. Tones was notified or Mrs. Cameron's imprisonment, and said she would take measures to secure her release.

Treasurer Hotchkiss Thinks that the In-Treasurer Horace L. Hotckiss of the Grant Monument Fund Committee thinks that the Legislature should assist the committee by appropriating the interest for a few years on the $2,213,000 of direct tax just refunded to the State by the United States.

case of hypnotism in which the person under hypnotic influence was told to do a certain thing one month, six months, or a year ahead. When the time came, the person manifested a strange and apparently unaccountable desire to do that thing. The only way by which it could be demonstrated whether the Alleghany man was really suffering from hydrophobia or not would be to inoculate a dog or other and with salive taken from the man while under the influence of his strange disease. If it was hydrophobia the dog would go mad.

"I once learned of a similar case," said Dr. Gibier. "I was that of a french zouare who was bitten by a dog in Algiers. Every year thereafter at about the same time he was subject to an attack of something very much like hydrophobia. He had to be confined in a dark room padded with soft mattresses, for he was very violent. After three or four days the attack would pass away, and he would appear to be as well as ever."

A fourteen-year-old Mexican girl has come all the way from Altata, a small town on the Gulf of California to piace herself under the treatment of Dr. Gibler. She was bitten on the foot by her pet dog when she was asleep in bed one night about three weeks ago. The local physicians advised her father to send her to the New York Pastsur Institute, and so she came on with her brother, a lad of 17. The journey took fifteen days by rail. She received her first inoculation yesterday. "The tax." said Mr. Hotchkiss yesterday, was paid in currency, which was at a discount when rated with gold. The money is returned now in a currency which is at par with gold, and it would be a grand and proper thing for this State to emphasize its loyalty and affection for the General who led us through the darkness of a civil war to an enduring victory by paying the amount necessary to complete his monument from the fund that was raised to help him when he was alive, and the soldiers that went with him to battle.

Mr. Hotchkiss said that $500,000 was the sum needed to complete the monument. $146,000 is already in hand.

The committee will meet on Tuesday when measures will be taken to send a committee to Albany to ask for legislation to this end. SYRUP FIGS

The jury in the Edelmuth divorce case returned a verdict yesterday in favor of Mrs. case had been on trial in the City Court, Brecklyn, for four days, and the husband summoned his children to prove that their mother had been guilty of miscondu t with Michael J. Ryan, an ex-policeman, against whom Mr. Edelmuth has at present pending a suit for $10,000 damages for the alienation of Mrs. Edelmuth's affections. The most serious charge against Mrs Edelmuth was that she had been guilty of a visit with Ryan to the Compton House in this city on Oct. 16, 1890. Mrs. Edelmuth produced witnesses to prove that she was in Brooklyn all that day, and Ryan also brought forward testimony to prove an allbi.

Byan also brought forward testimony to prove an albit.

In his address to the jury yesterday Lawyer Jere Wernberg for the plaintiff drew such a dismal picture of the desolation caused in the Edelmuth home by the wifes misdeeds that Mr. Edelmuth home by the wifes misdeeds that Mr. Edelmuth and his oldest daughter, Bertha, who has been his chief support in the case, burst into tears. Mrs. Edelmuth sat apparently unmoved while Mr. Wernberg was stacking her character.

It is probable that Mrs. Edelmuth will sue to have set aside the quit claim deed of her half ownership in several valuable bouses now held by Edelmuth. She signed the deed in the office of her husband's lawyer soon after the divorce sult was brought.

MAKING GLAD THE WASTE (WAIST) PLACES.

"That's what I call making glad the waist places," said Smithson, as he put his arm around a lady's waist. But Lilly won't care much for this show of affection if Smithson does not get rid of that disagreeable catarrh of his. Won't somebody tell him that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure him.

By its mild, soothing, antiseptic, cleansing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases. This infallible remedy does not, like the poisonous irritating snuffs, "ereams" and strong caustic solutions with which the public have long been humbugged, simply palliste for a short time, or drive the disease to the langs, as there is danger of doing in the use of such nostrums, but it produces perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases of Chronic Catarrh in the Head, as thousands can testify. They cure, as well as relieve. And it's all done so mildly and gently! There's none of the violence that went with the old-time pill. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet's a gentle lazative—three to four act as a cathartic. Bick Headache, Billous Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Billous Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured. As a Liver Fill, they're unequaled. They're purely vegetable, perfectly harmiess—the smalless, cheapest, and easiest to take.

Nawrorr, R. L. March 21.—The schooner yacht Tempest, formerly owned by "Jack" Mason, the actor, and alleged to have been sold to actor Stevenson of New York is datained here by reason of two attachments by creditors of Mason. It seems that Mr. Stevenson was simply acting as the agent of Mr. Samuel M. Roosevelt of New York, the real purchaser. Mr. Roosevelt will come here to obtain possession of the boat.
